MISSION

The Yenching Academy of Peking University aims to build bridges between China and the rest of the world through an interdisciplinary master's program in China Studies. This initiative brings together young people who have demonstrated a talent for leadership and innovation. At Yenching, they are immersed in an intensive learning environment where they can explore China and its past, present and future role in the world. The Academy's goal is to shape new generations of global citizens with a nuanced understanding of China.

The Yenching Academy provides full fellowships to its scholars, and offers them a wide array of interdisciplinary courses on China within broadly defined fields of the humanities and social sciences. Working closely with their academic mentors, the Yenching Scholars create their own study paths by choosing courses from six research areas. They also participate in a variety of extracurricular activities, organized by the Yenching Academy, and designed by scholars themselves. Studying at the Academy is an exceptional opportunity to take part in intercultural exchanges and interdisciplinary learning, and to develop personally and professionally.

"In this era of transition and change, I look to students and staff at the Yenching Academy to act as global citizens and contribute to our efforts to promote peace, development, and human rights."

Ban Ki-moon
Former Secretary-General of the United Nations

"Studying at the Yenching Academy of Peking University is an opportunity to interact not only with the great minds of China, but with the great emergent minds from all around the world."

Elizabeth J. Perry
Director of the Harvard–Yenching Institute

"There couldn't possibly be a greater opportunity for any of you than the one presented at Yenching."

ABOUT PEKING UNIVERSITY

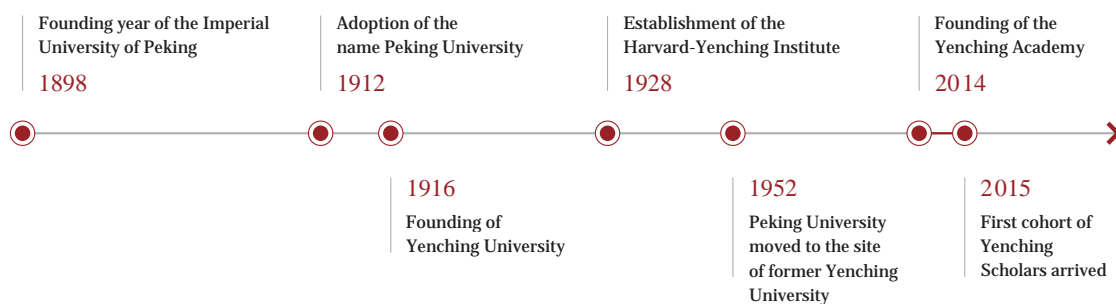

Since its founding in 1898, Peking University has played a central role in China's modern history. The country's first comprehensive institute for higher education during the Guangxu Emperor's Hundred Days of Reform, it has educated many of China's leading scientific, literary, and political figures, including famous writers such as Lu Xun and Shen Congwen, as well as Nobel Prize-winning scientists Tsung-Dao Lee and Tu Youyou.

During the tumultuous years that followed the Qing Dynasty's collapse, the university became the leading center for intellectual activity in the newly established republic, and in 1919 its students and faculty were the main participants in the May Fourth Movement - a major intellectual and cultural development that reshaped China's society and political life. Peking University has continued to play a leading intellectual role in China's modernization ever since. Widely regarded as China's leading comprehensive institution of higher learning,

Peking University has been ranked number one in each of the Times Higher Education BRICS & Emerging Economies Rankings.

The Yenching Academy's innovative, interdisciplinary curriculum and rigorously selected cohort of young scholars from around the world exemplify Peking University's quest for excellence.

YENCHING FELLOWSHIP

The Yenching Academy provides a generous fellowship that includes tuition fees, round-trip travel from scholars' home countries to Beijing, accommodation on campus, and living costs. The Academy's residential program aims to create a community of enthusiastic, globally oriented young innovators in the heart of Peking University, and encourages them to take full advantage of this unique opportunity by participating and engaging in campus life.

The mandatory residence period for international students is 12 months. For Chinese students and students from Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan, it is 24 months. Coursework is completed during the Fall and Spring semesters, with the summer reserved for research and writing. International students in good academic standing may receive support for up to one additional year in residence to complete and defend their theses. During this second year, students may be eligible for a limited number of teaching, research, or administrative assistantships. The Academy also offers grants to fund selected China Studies research projects.

PROGRAM

The Yenching Academy offers a highly customizable Master's program in China Studies for English speakers with varied levels of Chinese language competency. At the core of the program lies its emphasis on interdisciplinarity and the value it assigns to thinking about China – past, present and future – from both Chinese and international perspectives. It also aims to push the study of China beyond the boundaries of traditionally defined Humanities and Social Sciences disciplines, and is designed to incorporate the experiences and intellectual training of its diverse student body.

Scholars are allowed flexibility in the design of their study programs and can choose courses from any of six research areas, one of which they will choose for their theses. A wide range of electives offered by the Academy and other Peking University schools and departments supplements core courses. Our interdisciplinary approach encourages dialogue across academic disciplines, and creates an environment conducive to innovative and fruitful exchanges of ideas.

LANGUAGE STUDY

Chinese language study is an important component of the Yenching learning experience. All incoming international students will be tested to determine Chinese language class placement. Students with high proficiency may be exempt from language classes, provided that they take other courses taught in Chinese.

COURSEWORK

Students take two additional core courses, one of which consists of lectures on various aspects of China studies by twelve distinguished scholars. The second hallmark course, China in Transition, is a multidisciplinary survey of China's development in the Reform Era. Lectures and discussions take place in the Fall semester; in the Spring semester scholars pursue a field study project under the guidance of a faculty advisor.

Electives may be selected from any of the Academy's six research areas. To graduate, scholars must complete at least 30 academic credits, and write and orally defend a Masters thesis. Seventy-five percent of the courses taken by scholars from China must be taught in English.

RESEARCH AREAS

- Economics and Management. These courses explore the current state of China's economy, management practices, and the governance structures of its businesses. They lead students to understand the institutional characteristics and practices that define how business is done in China.
- History and Archaeology. These courses help students gain insight into the pluralism and richness of Chinese history and civilization, and review China's relationships with other major civilizations. Students' training ranges from Chinese historiography to methodology and archeological fieldwork practices. Curriculum includes museum and sites visits.
- Law and Society. These courses explore Chinese legal and social development. Students gain a better understanding of China's legal system, its major reforms, and the social issues generated by the country's fast paced development. They also become familiar with major concepts that underpin the Chinese legal system and its historical evolution.

- Literature and Culture. These courses focus mainly on a critical and comparative approach to Chinese language and literature, and aim to foster the analytical skills necessary for a competent and independent study of the structures and aesthetics of Chinese language and cultural expressions. They familiarize students with advanced theories and research methods in literature to help them form their own interpretations and understanding of Chinese literary works.
- Philosophy and Religion. These courses approach the philosophical and religious traditions of China from a comparative perspective. They offer opportunities to learn about China's ethics and values and develop a better understanding of China's rich traditions of philosophical and ideological inquiry.
- Politics and International Relations. These courses focus on Chinese perspectives on public and foreign policy. They provide students with a structured knowledge of the Chinese political system, governance model, and policy building process, as well as the analytical and theoretical tools to analyze China's behavior in international relations.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Throughout their time at the Yenching Academy, scholars have opportunities to explore various interests and identify potential career options. The Career Development Service strives to enhance Yenching Scholars' career prospects and help them improve their academic and professional skills. Aimed at fostering competitive advantage, the Academy's workshops, one-on-one consultations and seminars assist scholars in planning their careers. Whether scholars have a clear career path in mind or are still in the process of defining one, the Academy offers them guidance through their personal journeys.

Beyond of the formal Career Development Service, scholars receive extensive professional support from the Academy at large. Regardless of their concentration and future plans, the Academy encourages scholars to communicate with their advisors, professors and staff about leadership opportunities that could advance their careers. The Academy also supports scholars' participation in selected international conferences and fora.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE

The collegiate living experience is a defining feature of Yenching Scholars' residential lives, and fosters a sense of community by facilitating the exchange of ideas. Scholars benefit from the administrative and pastoral support of residential advisors. Yenching Scholars reside in newly renovated single rooms in the Shaoyuan International Student Complex, located at the heart of the Peking University campus, and less than three minutes' walk from the Academy's academic and administrative facilities.

In addition to common rooms and a dedicated library, scholars have access to a wide array of amenities in the immediate vicinity. In addition, the Academy is committed to enriching the extracurricular lives of its scholars by providing financial support for student-led initiatives.

ADMISSIONS

ELIGIBILITY

Each year the Yenching Academy admits approximately 125 new students to study, live, and learn together. Roughly 20% are recruited from Mainland China, while 80% are international students.

Applicants should have:

- A Bachelor's degree in any field, awarded no later than August 31 of the year they wish to enroll;
- An outstanding academic record;
- English proficiency;
- A record of extracurricular achievement, community engagement and social responsibility;
- Leadership potential.

To secure a place at the Yenching Academy, applicants must demonstrate how the program is relevant and valuable for their career plans.

Candidates who are age 25 or younger as of August 31 of the year they wish to enroll (or age 27 or younger, for applicants from countries where military service is mandatory) will receive preference.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

All candidates should apply through the Yenching Academy online application portal. Candidates from Mainland China, Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan will need to apply through both the Yenching Academy online application portal and the Peking University Graduate Admissions website.

Applicants should submit the following materials in English:

- Complete online application form;
- Curriculum Vitae;
- Personal statement;
- Most recent official transcript(s);
- Proof of Enrollment/Diploma(s)
- Two letters of recommendation;
- International English proficiency test score (IELTS/TOEFL/Cambridge/CEFR).

Citizens of the People's Republic of China will be admitted according to rules specified by the Ministry of Education of China, which requires that candidates qualify for exemption from graduate entrance examinations based on their Mainland Chinese universities' recommendations.

APPLICATION TIMELINE

Each August, Yenching Academy begins accepting applications from international, Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan candidates for the following year's cohort. Please see our website for specific application deadlines:

www.yenchingacademy.org/application

Semi-finalists and finalists will be interviewed remotely, or, in rare cases, in person. The majority of acceptance decisions will be made in March.

Mainland Chinese recruitment for the following year's cohort takes place each April-August. Details will be available on our website.

PARTNER AND COOPERATING UNIVERSITIES

The Yenching Academy works with Partner Universities around the globe, which nominate outstanding candidates for consideration. Applicants currently enrolled at Partner Universities must apply through both their universities' internal processes and the Yenching Academy admissions portal. Alumni of Partner Universities should also apply through both their universities and our admissions portal; however, if their alma maters choose not to handle alumni applications, they may apply through our portal alone.

We also work with Cooperating Universities that serve as points of contact and sources of information about the Yenching Academy, but do not take part in the pre-selection process. A complete list of Partner and Cooperating Universities are available on our website:

CHINA AND THE WORLD: OBSERVATION, ANALYSIS, PROSPECT

The Yenching Academy sponsored the symposium “China and the World: Observation, Analysis, Prospect” December 12 to 14, 2016, as a forum for the discussion of questions such as “How do we evaluate the meaning of culture in a current global situation where many humanistic and cultural values have been marginalized?” and “What is the future of humanities and education?” Participants of this conference included prestigious Chinese scholars of the humanities, as well as distinguished scholars from abroad. It served as a platform for an intelligent, free, and candid dialogue, and drew on participants’ personal experiences, observations and analysis.

YENCHING GLOBAL SYMPOSIUM

The Academy's flagship event, the Yenching Global Symposium, is one of the most selective conferences in China, and is quickly becoming one of the world's most competitive and highly anticipated conferences. The 2016 Symposium, with an acceptance rate of 3 percent, received more than 1800 applications from over 130 countries, and included Rhodes Scholars, Marshall Scholars, Gates Cambridge Scholars, Fulbright Scholars and participants from other major fellowships and leading institutions.

In 2017, the Symposium received more than 2200 applications and selected approximately 75 students and young professionals from 30 countries to participate in the event as delegates. Hosted on the Peking University campus from March 23-26, 2017, the second annual symposium, with the theme "Xinnovation: Identity of Innovation in China", was a four-day event consisting of multidisciplinary lectures, panel discussions, site visits, interactive sessions, and the XIN World Innovation Fair. It featured prominent Chinese and international scholars, as well as leading professionals who have challenged and expanded previous conceptions about innovation in China. For more information about the 2016 and 2017 Yenching Global Symposia and future Symposia, please follow us on social media or visit our website: www.yenchingsymposium.org
